

There's no place like home... Affordable family protection

It's easy to add critical illness protection to your client's life insurance

A home is often the single largest purchase a family will make in their lifetime. It's important to protect that investment. What would happen if your client were to become critically ill or die? Would their family be able to keep making the mortgage payments? Help your client reduce financial worry and get more comprehensive coverage by adding a critical illness rider to their existing life insurance plan.

THE SITUATION:	THE NEED:
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Bob (38), production supervisor Mary (35), freelance graphic designer Household income of $135,000 $250,000 mortgage for 20 years 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Keep the family home in the event of a tragedy Cover two years of mortgage payments ($2,000/month) if Bob or Mary is unable to work due to a critical illness

THE BEST VALUE SOLUTION:

Combining affordable term insurance and critical illness coverage into one plan creates the perfect mortgage protection bundle, one that is flexible enough to meet Bob and Mary's needs today and into the future.

³Premiums for EquiLiving critical illness rider will increase after 10 years when the coverage renews.

FUTURE FLEXIBILITY:

To lock in a level premium for the remainder of their lives⁴, Bob and Mary can:

- Convert their term 20 plan to permanent coverage without underwriting, and
- Change their EquiLiving rider to an EquiLiving level pay plan or a 20 pay plan without underwriting

⁴ Change would need to occur prior to the age specified in the applicable contract. See applicable contract for details.

Term life insurance + critical illness insurance = flexible and cost-effective mortgage protection.
